- ( JIGL )
1. A hard surface road [#921] runs from Sibiu eastward to Sighisoara where it veers and then proceeds southward to Brasov and from Brasov it continues southward to Bucharest. The same type of hard surface road [#924] runs from Medias southward to Sibiu. Another hard surface road [#924] runs from Medias northward toward Turda where it continues on to Cluj.
  2. The above roads are over two lanes wide and are considered to be first class highways. The roads have a good solid foundation and are asphalt surfaced. The roads are in good condition and capable of absorbing heavy usage. The terrain through which the roads run is extremely hilly.
  3. A number of loose surface, all weather roads [#909] run in the vicinity of Medias, Dumbraveni and Bachnea. The roads are over one lane in width and are able to absorb heavy usage. The roads are gravel surfaced and have a natural solid foundation of rock, sand and gravel.
  4. A number of loose surface, dry weather dirt roads [#935] run in the same vicinity as the loose surface, all weather roads [#909]. The dirt roads are over one lane in width. The dirt roads have a natural foundation of sand, gravel and rock and occasionally are able to bear heavy usage.
